ARCHITEKTON

Doug Brown is a founding principal of Architekton who brings his clients over 27 years of experience in the design and construction industry. His experience as project manager on numerous projects has given him a unique skills set. He is adept at coordinating the many user groups, public agencies, consultants, and community interests that are a part of any project, assuring that schedule, quality and cost requirements are met throughout the project phases. Doug uses his vast experience to value engineer a project ensuring the most effective construction methods available. In addition, his extensive experience in the production of thorough and accurate construction documents assure a minimum of change orders.
